School Construction is Underway

Our Redeemed Steel Hammer in At Yellow Rose Forge was our best Event Ever. Over 200 people came together to raise over 17000 dollars to push us over the top in construction of the first Redeemed Steel Trade School in Guatemala!

Vendors like Pop's Knife Supply, Big Blue Hammer, and Holland Anvil donated Generously and dozens of volunteers came to gether for what ended up being the best event we've ever had.

I'm so happy to tell you that construction is already underway and that it should be completed aroudn teh turn of the year.

Our next step will be to equip the school and begin setting it up to begin a slow rollout of operations.

Here's both pictures of the Hammer in and the construction of the trade school and its partner ministry Casa De Gracia, all amde possible by God's faithfulness through generous supporters.

Welcome to the New Frontier

We've been so blessed to partner with The New Frontier ministries for 4 years now. It's a part of our summer schedule before we even start the calendar. We believe so strongly in what Chris Hartenstien and his incredible team are doing that we always make room to be out hereto help in any way we can.

Connecting to The Father's Heart

Working with the TNF Team and Gary Barkalow from The Noble Heart, we spend a week making knives and helping Father's and Sons embrace their identities in Christ.

This ministry has changed the lives of countless me, including ours. Helping men to understand their identity as beloved sons of God not only helps them, but enables them to serve others more effectively. Knowing who we are in Christ and understanding the transformative nature of a relationship with the Father is literally shaping men who will shape the world.

After months of praying and drilling, the team at Casa De Gracia have successfully hit water in the progress on the well which will not only supply Casa De Gracia, but also the Redeemed Steel Trade School. Glory to God!
